

MGMT725 final term 2016

www.vchowk.com

1. How do defenders address administration problem?
2. How do analyzer address administrative problem?
3. A stable state describes the state of adaptation in which instead of buffering itself from the environment the firm is open to it and in fact offers a reactive move in keeping with every move of the environment which kind of strategic type of organization among defender prospector analyzer and reactor best fits in this state of adaption
4. Higgins model element that need to be realized in order to improve organizational performance this model identify the importance organizational aspects that need to be considered for successful strategy execution to implement change. Discuss the elements of strategy in higgings model?
5. In most organizations absence of suitable performance evaluation criteria results in failed strategic change implementation. Do you agree or not
6. How do you see planned and emergent change while considering scale and scope of change as basic elements
7. Discuss adaptive specialization of the firm
8. It's not necessary that if an organization avoids those organizational features that lead to failure then it will be able to successful implementation of change discuss managerial factors that lead to change implementation failure
9. One of the major role of leader in managing change in organizations is how they learn from the past comment the statement